Q-1 Create an Angular Application which will create one component named as FirstComp, That component display "Hello from First Component" on page. Render that component from index.html file.

Q-2 Create an Angular Application which will create two component named as FirstComp and SecondComp, That component display "Hello from First Component" and "Hello from First Component" on page. Render that component from root component.

Hello from First Component

Hello from Second Component

Rendered both First and Second component from root component

Q-3 Create an Angular Application which will create two component named as FirstComp and SecondComp, That component display "Hello from First Componet" and "Hello from First Component" on page. Render FirstComp from root component and SecondComp from FirstComp.